Dr Stewart Russell
6 August 1955 -17 September 2011

Dear colleague

The Dr Stewart Russell Student Award Fund

We are writing to you and other alumni and former colleagues of Dr Stewart Russell to ask for your help in creating a scholarship in his memory.

Stewart made an important contribution to the development of the field of Science and Technology Studies over many years. After a doctorate at Aston University, he spent 20 years at the University of Wollongong, inspiring a generation of students at their Science, Technology & Society program.

Stewart joined the University of Edinburgh in 2006 as Deputy Director of the Research Centre for Social Sciences. He helped build the interdisciplinary research programmes of the Institute for the Study of Science, Technology and Innovation, particularly around the transition to environmental sustainability, water management and energy technologies. His sustained efforts, particularly in developing our joint postgraduate programmes with the Science Studies Unit, paved the way for the establishment of the Science, Technology and Innovation Studies subject group.

Stewart was tireless in his support for colleagues in their work and in building links with other scholars and with wider audiences. He is greatly missed by all who knew him.

To commemorate Stewart's commitment and passion in helping students achieve their full potential we are delighted to announce the creation of a fund in his memory which will directly help students here at the University of Edinburgh. It would be greatly appreciated if you could make a donation to this fund, however small. Feel free to forward this letter and ask your friends and colleagues who perhaps knew Stewart if they could also make a contribution. If we can all contribute a little, the fund will soon grow, and hopefully enable us to offer the first scholarship in time for next academic year.
